

SEMI-WEEKLY INTERIOR JOURNAL.

VOL. XXI.

STANFORD, KY., FRIDAY, AUGUST 11, 1893.

NO. 47

WILLIAMSBURG, WHITLEY COUNTY.

—Mr. John Prevo is attending the fair at Chicago this week.

—Quite a number of our citizens went to Knoxville last Sunday on the excursion.

—Rev. A. S. Petry preached at Mt. Zion, in the southern part of the State last Sunday.

—Dr. P. A. Pennington and brother, M. K. Pennington, were called home to see their mother, who is very sick.

—Mrs. J. D. Adkins, W. M. Blain and F. K. Berry have been appointed board of pension examiners at this place.

—Judge H. H. Tye made some speeches in the Grays precinct of Knox county, last week, in favor of local option.

—Mr. G. A. Denham is building an addition to his dwelling-house. Green is expected to be postmaster and of course would be expected to do some fixing up.

—The M. E. Conference of this district met here on the 2d and held over Sunday. There were quite a number of able preachers here from all parts of the mountains.

—Dr. Savage, of Winchester, was here last week and established an auxiliary branch of the American Bible Society with J. S. Jones president and Walker Mason secretary.

—We are glad to congratulate our old friend and schoolmate, Harvey Helm, on his success, and are sure Lincoln county will be ably represented in the next Legislature.

—Frankie, the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Watkins, died on the evening of the 4th, after an illness of four weeks. She was buried the next day in the cemetery.

—Rev. L. E. Tupper returned home from Vermont, where he has been spending the summer, last Friday morning. He is thinking of going to Kansas to take charge of a school there.

—There are times when news seems to run out and this is one of the times. Everyone is staying at home and nobody is coming to see them. All those who expect to visit us are either waiting for circuit court, which commences on the 21st, or the fair, which is Aug. 30, continuing four days. The court docket is a heavy one and the four weeks allotted us no doubt will be crowded with business and we are expecting everybody in Southeastern Kentucky to be present at the fair, besides a great many from a distance.

Letter From Rev. John Bell Gibson.

(To the Editor Interior Journal.)

CORBIN, Aug. 8th.—Your paper is so widely circulated that wherever I go I find and enjoy the best county paper in the State.

My meeting in this town is reaching out through the whole community and immense audiences assemble at every service. We are having confessions daily.

This is an important town for us as a religious people, as here is located one of our four church schools and we propose making this a strong radiating point for adjacent churches.

We have in one respect a peculiar audience. A gentleman, last evening, estimated that in the large crowd present there were people from ten States.

Corbin is feeling now very hopeful for the future as there is every indication that this will be the end of a division on the L. & N., and that the shops will be permanently located here. There are many pretty homes, fine mineral water, plenty of rain, cool nights and altogether a quiet place in which to live.

The temperance people won a signal victory yesterday in Grays' precinct, which includes a part of Corbin by 177 majority, or more than two to one. The county judge, county attorney, sheriff and all the county officers of Knox county are aggressive prohibition men and all did valiant service in this election. They cannot have too much praise from all good people.

I started out to drop you a line for the INTERIOR JOURNAL about the good meeting we are having, but it has grown to two sheets. The waste basket may be the suitable place for this communication.

JOHN BELL GIBSON.

Emmett McCormack Withdraws.

Finding that my business will not permit me to be from home as much as a thorough canvass of the county would necessitate, I have, after due deliberation, decided to withdraw from the race for the office of assessor. My friends have voluntarily promised me their support and have assured me that I should not be left in the field, but for the above reason I decline to go further. I am very grateful indeed for the many pledges I have received, and at some time in the future may call on my friends for their support, but for the present I shall be compelled to remain at home and attend to its duties. Gratefully Yours, EMMETT MCCORMACK.

Look Forward Not Backward.

Stockton's Antiseptic is a scientific remedy, fully up with the progressive age. Don't be discouraged, it has cured where others have failed. It is truly the conqueror of disease.

ALWAYS IN THE MIDST.

Is the I. J. Man When Two or Three are Gathered Together.

LIBERTY, Aug. 9.—Monday was the first day of circuit court at Liberty. A good many people were gathered together and of course the I. J. man was there. Court began promptly at 10 A. M., with Judge Jones and Commonwealth's Attorney Muncie and a host of attorneys on hand. The docket is a rather light one and it is thought that it will be gotten through with this week. Allen, for the murder of Barlow, at a picnic some time ago, will be tried, which, by the way, is about the only important case that will come up.

Liberty is the same old seven and six and with the exception of Bob Pierce's new residence and the big hotel he is building, there are no visible changes since I was here last.

The hotel spoken of above will be a daisy indeed when it is completed and many think it will be most too mammoth a thing for Liberty. Bob Pierce don't think so though and as he has made money out of everything he has ever tried it is generally conceded that this big hotel scheme will not prove an exception. It is a frame structure, will be three stories in height and will contain 50 rooms, including a couple of large store rooms. Wood work has been completed up to the second story and the promise of a grand inn is very flattering. It is likely that Mr. Pierce will run it, and if he does the traveler can rest assured that he will be well taken care of when in Casey's capital.

A couple of patent medicine men had the day Monday and took in many a quarter and half dollar for their "cure-alls." Dr. Hagland had his Lightning Relief and Dr. Cassidy his World's Wonder and they both did well until they got to treading on each other's toes in their remarks, when the lie and d-n lie were given and then came even more unbecoming epithets. The crowd, which was hungry for a fight, thought that there was a fight in sight certain, but it was mistaken, for as they were about to come together, Deputy Sheriff Wilford Dye stepped up and informed them that another word from either would land them both in Casey's little dungeon of a jail, and the two would-be M. D.'s were soon as cool and calm as you please.

Among the hustling merchants of Liberty are Pole, George and Duff Portman. Their store-room, which is only 12 feet wide, but 100 feet long, is a little peculiar in appearance, but it is the scene of a great deal of business. They carry a general merchandise stock and in connection sell prohibition drinks till you can't rest.

I had a pleasant talk Monday evening with Mr. McDowell Fogle, a retired attorney and an excellent old gentleman. Mr. Fogle was born in Lebanon 78 years ago and bears the distinction of being the first white child born in that town. He moved to Casey about 60 years ago and has since been identified with her interests. Mr. Fogle informed me that during his residence in Casey he has seen three brick court-houses built in Liberty and consequently has been taxed for them all, while in that time four jails have been built for which he has paid out a good deal of filthy lucre. Mr. Fogle represented Casey in the Legislature several times and was one of the body which went to Columbus, O., at the beginning of the war for the purpose of consulting the legislative body in session there, regarding the restoration of peace. He is a polished old gentleman and is chuck full of information.

Mr. J. A. Estes, president of the Middleburg and Liberty turnpike, is determined that there shall be very little "knocking down" done by his gatekeepers. He issues tickets to parties who use the road to much extent as well as to all persons living on the road and the only cash the toll gate men get to handle is that paid in by transients. Lincoln county might do well to follow Mr. Estes' example.

The ladies of the Christian church gave an ice cream supper at the Napier House, Monday night, the proceeds of which will go towards repairing the church. The prettiest girls in town acted as waiters, which within itself was worth double the money.

The Casey County Teachers' Institute will convene at Middleburg on Aug. 21-25. It promises to be a joyful as well as profitable meeting. The Cornet band will furnish music for the night entertainments while a first-class string band will enliven things during the day. The citizens of town and vicinity will do all in their power to make the teachers' and visitors' stay among them as pleasant as possible. Those interested in the cause and friends of education are cordially invited to attend and spend a week of pleasure.

MIDDLEBURG AND YOSEMITE.

The I. J. man tarried at these two villages long enough to add a few names to the already good list of INTERIOR JOURNALs that make their semi-weekly visits, and besides made a goodly number of renewals, for which he is duly thankful.

Middleburg is growing and several new houses have gone up since I was there in the spring. Mr. Isaac Cowan's sale of lots brought in a good many foreigners who were so well pleased with the quiet little town that they remained.

Yosemite has done little or nothing in the last year or two toward improving herself and it is generally thought that the little lumber town at the terminus of the Cincinnati, Green River and Great Southern Railroad is about as big as it will ever be. Morally, Yosemite has improved considerably and those who ought to know say that red liquor is "monstrous" hard to get there. There was some room for improvement so far as the illegal sale of whisky is concerned.

HUSTONVILLE.

As Sid Adams, George Goode, Higgins Wood and Mose Cook were going calling Sunday night their horse ran over the embankment near Mr. Smith Powell's and the four young gentlemen were precipitated to the bottom of the little creek below in any other than a gentle manner. The fall was some 10 or 12 feet and it was almost a miracle that they all were not seriously hurt. The surrey was an unrecognizable mass of wood and iron and the horse was badly hurt, but Cook and Goode escaped without a scratch, while Adams and Wood were fortunate to get off with a few slight bruises.

Mr. George Miller Givens, who was thrown from a mower several days ago and had his collar bone broken, is rapidly improving. It is thought that his fortune in securing so good a piece of government pie, will soon pull him out of his bed so that he can receive the congratulations of his legion of friends.

Emmett McCormack's many friends are sorry to learn that he has withdrawn from the assessor's race. This leaves E. B. Kennedy the only aspirant for that office in this neck of the woods and he will get nearly a solid vote.

Joe Morris' mule team ran away Wednesday and barely escaped running into J. F. Steele's store. Cesar Minor's barber pole was knocked down, the driver's head was mashed and a little excitement was created, was about the only damage that was done.

The younger society boys are preparing for a big party at Mr. L. B. Adams' on the evening of the 17th. Some 250 invitations will be issued and a great time is looked forward to.

Miss Helen Reid left Wednesday for Paducah. After a short stay there she will visit the World's Fair with her friend, Miss Caldwell. Mrs. J. W. Weatherford, daughter, Miss Agnes, and son, Archie, of Ennis, Texas, are visiting friends and relatives here. —Mrs. J. S. Goode and Miss Dollie Williams will go to Cumberland Falls this week. Mrs. S. G. Drye and Misses Alice and Mabel, will return from a visit to Mrs. Drye's mother at Staunton this week. Samuel Reid and wife leave Friday for Russell Springs; Mr. and Mrs. John Steele Carpenter will go next week. Joseph L. Cowan, of Wichita, Kansas, who has been visiting a Hustonville beauty, has returned home. Miss Lizzie Thompson, of Lancaster, is visiting Miss Bettie Carpenter. W. D. Weatherford is at the World's Fair.

A delightful reception was given Monday night by Mrs. T. L. Carpenter, to her friend, Miss Roberts, of Covington.

Misses Lou Hocker and Minnie Dinwiddie are both quite sick. The new Sunday-school building at Moreland, which was begun before Mr. Green died, and which was the direct result of his good work, is being pushed by the good people of Hustonville and Moreland. It will be a credit to Moreland and a monument to the originator, who is now reaping the reward of a well-spent life.

MCKINNEY.

The Masonic building is completed and is indeed an improvement to Main street.

Rev. W. R. Davidson, the clever postmaster, says he believes he has filled his office so well that the democrats will be ashamed to turn him out. Mr. Davidson is a splendid man and a better postmaster could hardly be found, but the democratic ax will get him sooner or later and he no doubt will be prepared for it.

Mr. J. W. Pulliam and wife, of Washington City, are visiting her mother, Mrs. Dr. Green Moore. W. M. McAfee is in Missouri. J. P. and C. L. Crow are attending the Springfield fair. K. L. Tanner is receiving a good deal of wheat at 50 cents. Mr. VanArsdall, of the Hustonville mills, has paid as high as 55 cents for several crops.

—By working extra hours to meet the demand for national bank notes, the Bureau of Engraving and Printing will issue about $1,500,000 a day to be added to the general circulation.

—Three men started down Pike's Peak on a railroad toboggan to beat the record in quick descent. Their vehicle jumped the track on a curve and the remains of the three will be buried as soon as they can be collected.

LANCASTER, GARRARD COUNTY.

—Sacramental services will be held at the Presbyterian church on Sunday at 11 A. M.

—Ex P. M. G. Wannamaker thinks that the country is on the verge of a revolution.

—Brother Frank has rested well during the past few days and is somewhat improved this (Thursday) morning.

—It has been suggested that if the men who are out of employment in Denver could arrange to form professional base ball clubs, they could manage to stem the financial tide, as no amount of hard times will prevent a fine attendance at a national game of b. b.

—A suggestion having been made as to colonizing the colored race of the U. S., the N. Y. Press thinks that the negroes have the same right to insist upon the colonization of the white race. In other words, "Mr. White Man, if you are not satisfied with the condition of things light out. I see here to stay."

—Mr. Porter, the Englishman who superintended the taking of the American census, has returned to New York and resumed the editorial control of the New York Press. It is to be hoped that when the time comes to take the next census that some native born American can be found with sufficient qualifications to discharge the duties of superintendent.

—Capt. Charles Gallagher and J. Fleece Robinson have returned from a visit to Clear Creek Springs in Bell county. They report a large crowd in attendance and say the water will cure anything in the world except consumption. If this be true, the attendance ought to be larger than at the World's Fair. The fare is said to be good and the rates reasonable, which is quite an item in these days when money is said to be as scarce as hen's teeth.

—Mr. Halford, private secretary to Harrison, who was appointed paymaster in the regular army over the heads of thousands of Union soldiers, and sent on a junketing expedition to Paris to pay off 8 or 10 Behring Sea commissioners, has returned to the United States and is in Washington having a pleasant time. He is a native born Englishman, however, and entitled to great consideration on that account. George Washington said on the eve of a battle during the revolutionary war: "Put none but Americans on guard to-night." But things have changed since then.

—The opinions of members of Congress thus far indicate that the discussion on the repeal of the Sherman silver bill will amount to about this: The advocates of the repeal will claim and boldly assert that the Sherman bill has caused the present financial panic, while the friends of silver will claim that the Sherman bill has had nothing to do with the panic. Thus far no reasons have been given by either side for the views they entertain, nor does there seem to be any likelihood of any being given. The argument will simply consist of a dogmatic statement of opinion on each side and nothing will be determined except by a vote on the question of repeal. It is a great mistake to assume that every man who can manage by hook and crook to get into Congress is either a Statesman or a Solomon. There are many things in the world they do not know, and but only one that it can be said of a truth they do know—viz: to keep in position as long as possible and draw their $5,000 a year. Compared with the wages of the average laboring man, the pay of a member of Congress, is worthy of consideration. The M. C. is evidently in a position to sympathize with the wage earner who is dependent upon his daily toil for a subsistence.

LONDON, LAUREL COUNTY.

—An ice cream supper was given at the court-house Wednesday night for the benefit of the late Kindergarten.

—The infant of Matthias Foutz, our tailor, died Tuesday night. It was about four months old and its mother died at its birth.

—Mr. Sam Warnack has bought J. A. Riley's lease on the Jackson House and took charge Monday. Mr. Riley will make his future home in Ohio.

—Prof. Milton Elliott is the instructor for the Laurel county teachers' institute and is receiving praise from the teachers from the manner in which he conducts it.

—Commonwealth's Attorney W. R. Ramsey arrived from Barbourville circuit court this week. He tells me there were 8 convictions to the penitentiary this term of the Knox circuit court.

A Queenly Head

can never rest on a body frail from disease any more than the lovely lily can grow in the sterile soil. When consumption fastens its hold upon a victim, the whole physical structure commences its decay. At such a period, before the disease is too far advanced, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will arrest and cure it. So certain is this that an offer is made to refund the money paid for it when a failure can be found under the condition of a fair trial.

—John Flynn, after horribly butchering his four children, cut his own throat at St. Louis.

DEMOCRATIC TICKET.

For Representative,

HARVEY HELM.

The president's message, which we give in full on our 6th page, is short, sharp and decisive. It indulges in no ornamental or useless words, but like the doctor of medicine, who having thoroughly diagnosed the case, prescribes the remedy for the ills that affect the material body, so Dr. Cleveland, with equal confidence and precision, having carefully examined the case, suggests the cure for the evils that menace the body politic. He regards the compulsory silver purchase law as the source of our financial troubles and after stating the case in the clearest and most concise manner possible, urges Congress to repeal it at once. There is no partisan appeal in the paper. It is brave and patriotic, not even charging the republicans with the passage of the bill, as it might have done, but simply referring to it as "a truce between the advocates of free silver coinage and those intending to be more conservative." Experience has shown that the law is a miserable and costly makeshift, whose unconditional repeal is imperatively demanded by the financial interests of the country. This done, the president urges an earnest effort toward tariff reform, for which the people at the last election, by their votes, so clearly spoke and for the consideration of which he intended to call congress together in September, had not the financial conditions caused him to convene it at an earlier date. Except by the wild-eyed silverites, the message is received with a commendation and satisfaction rarely exhibited for a state paper. It is worth your careful perusal. Read it and you will form an even higher opinion of the great man who wrote it.

WHITE capping has gotten such a black eye in Indiana that it is sure to lapse into innocuous desuetude, just as kukluxing did in the South for the same reason. The reception given the white caps by the Conrad Brothers in Mosquito Bottom, when seven were killed and others wounded, will go far towards stopping a business, which was often used to gratify personal resentments. When a resort to mob law is rendered absolutely necessary by the heinousness of the crime and the uncertainty of punishment by the regular methods, it should be done in broad day light and with uncovered faces.

MR. WATSON says he would not walk around the corner to elect or defeat Judge Lindsay or to elect or defeat Gov. McCreary, or anybody else, which leads Editor Knott to remark that he is afraid to meet Gus Straus in one direction, or come across the office of the Post in the other. We are left to suppose that if he turn up Green street Gus will tackle him for a game of poker and if he perambulate up Fourth the Post and its irreverent editor would put such a bad taste in his mouth that even the champagne and the sherry of the Pen-dennis could not remove.

THERE is weeping and wailing among the employees of the L. & N. because of a sweeping reduction in their salaries. President Smith has issued an order that the pay of all officers who have heretofore received a monthly salary of $333.33 or over is reduced 20 per cent. and all others 10 per cent. This action is rendered necessary by the falling off in business and the close money market. As the president gets a cool $5,000 clipped from his salary, the smaller fry accept the reduction with more grace than they would if the order were not general.

KENTUCKY will have a hanging to-day. Great pity she can't have a hundred. Henry Hall, the modern Cain, who slew his brother over a game of cards, will pay the penalty that ought always to follow murder, at Pikeville. Gov. Brown says after a careful examination of the case that the jury could not have done otherwise than to have found a verdict of death as there were no extenuating circumstances whatever.

With his usual good luck, Gov. McCreary's name was called early in the drawing for seats in the House and he secured a choice one at the aisle, where he will always be in range of the speaker's eye. Speaking of the message, the governor said: "Mr. Cleveland can always be depended on to say the right thing at the right time. His message meets the case exactly."

DR. WALTON, pension agent for Kentucky, says there have been 325 suspensions from his rolls so far. Let the good work continue. There are thousands who ought not to be on the pension lists, who, though able to earn a livelihood, are living in idleness at the expense of the government.

NEWSY NOTES.

—Ex-Collector Attila Cox has been appointed receiver of the Louisville, St. Louis & Texas railroad.

—Alfred Story, editor of Harper's Young People, died at St. Luke's hospital, New York, of typhoid fever.

—The Louisville Mozart Music Hall was nearly destroyed by fire, causing much loss to the firms and poor families who occupied it.

—Private Laugherty, of the Fort Anderson garrison, was assassinated Monday night by Coal Creek miners while he was leaving a house of ill-fame.

—The official list of the new House of Representatives gives the democrats 220, republicans 126, third party 9. There is one vacancy, making the whole number 356.

—The Bank of Big Stone Gap has suspended. A steady draw of its deposits from $290,000 to $15,000 and a falling off in its loans of $225,000 caused it to suspend.

—Judge W. B. Fleming, of Louisville, has been appointed Chief of the Law and Contract Division of the Treasury Department, an important and desirable position.

—The gold reserve in the National Treasury continues to increase, being now $102,291,485. The surplus is decreasing, however, the net balance being $15,939,722.

—The Board of Health of Escambia county, Fla., has announced that two deaths from yellow fever have occurred in Pensacola. The announcement created a panic and 1,500 people left once.

—Lindsey Pickrel and Jim Miller assaulted Will Harlan, at Tompkinsville, because he was in the sheriff's posse that arrested members of the Rock-bridge gang, but they won't do so any more. He shot both of them through the body and they were dying at last accounts.

—The caucus of the free coinage members of Congress was attended by about 100. A resolution was adopted pledging their support to a bill "repealing the purchase clause of the Sherman act, and concurrently providing for the free and untrammelled coinage of silver, with full legal tender quality on such a ratio as will provide and maintain the parity between gold and silver."

Lincoln County Teachers' Institute.

The institute opened Tuesday as per adjournment and after being lead in prayer by N. W. Hughes, minutes were read. The attendance not being full, by suggestion of the conductor the query box was opened, having been laid over from the preceding day. Spelling was now introduced by the conductor and the various teachers aired their numerous methods of conducting this exercise, both orally and written. Reading was then introduced by N. W. Hughes, principally reading from text books. Many teachers propounded questions, which brought out the attention and work of the body.

Recess being over, the following were made honorary members: J. B. O'Bannon, Leslie Bosley and Mrs. J. M. Hubbard.

The subject of compound numbers was introduced by M. J. Brough, further illuminated by the conductor and many members of the meeting. Having closed this subject the query box was opened and contents examined.

AFTERNOON.
After singing, roll was called and the remaining questions in query box read, when H. S. Young brought before the teachers percentage, which was well done.

Dr. Carpenter, by invitation, delivered a short, sensible and instructive talk on The Eye, which held the institute quite attentively during the continuance of said talk. Before adjourning for recess the following resolutions were passed.

Resolved—That the thanks of the teachers of Lincoln county, in convention assembled, at Stanford, Ky., Aug. 8th, 1893, are due and are hereby tendered to Dr. Carpenter for his excellent, appropriate and instructive address on the Anatomy of the Eye.

Recess being over, the institute again resumed work by having geography presented by Mrs. Eubanks, which was extended instructively, bringing out many remarks from both conductor and teachers, causing many to view the work in quite a different light than formerly, much to their advantage.

Supt. W. F. McClary opened Wednesday morning's session by calling around him at the organ several of the teachers, who gave us some good music, after which Conductor Grinstead read from Holy Writ and Bro. Cook held communion with the throne of grace, when the conductor read a paper on Teachers and Teaching, in which he neatly, slyly and thoroughly dissected many of his hearers, yet bearing on no particular one. The subject of Text-books was introduced by Brough and discussed by Mrs. Eubanks, Misses L. Lewis, Kate Blaine, Mrs. Hendricks, Messrs. N. W. Hughes, M. D. Hughes, C. M. Young, H. S. Young, J. Elder, Bastin, G. W. Curtis and others.

At this point of work Miss Emma Knox, of Danville, was made an honorary member and welcomed by the teachers. Common Fractions were introduced by Mr. Holmes, who took the place of C. M. Young, to whom the subject was originally assigned, he failing to come to the front. Same discussed by M. D.

Hughes, H. S. Young, Conductor Grinstead, Miss Knox, who struck the proper key note on the subject in a few words containing much good sense and deep meaning. Grinstead then extended the subject elaborately, being assisted by H. S. Young, M. D. Hughes, Miss Mary Kay and others. Adjourned.

AFTERNOON.
Opened with music, after which query box was opened and many interesting questions were asked. Then penmanship was introduced and several questions asked and answered; also many letters analyzed, the teachers giving flattering attention.

Prof. Grinstead now took up Infinitives and by the assistance of the body assembled extended the subject so extensively that all seemed thoroughly satisfied.

H. S. Young came to the front and presented and handled Mental Arithmetic satisfactorily, so much so that Miss Anna Reid, Miss Cook, Miss Lewis, Mr. Cress, Miss Thurmond, Miss Knox, Mr. Brough, Mr. Holmes, Miss Georgia Lewis and the conductor, being enthused upon the matter, aired their opinions.

THURSDAY MORNING.

Opened at appointed time with music by the members. Devotional exercises by Rev. W. E. Arnold. Supt. Rawlings, of Boyle county was made an honorary member. When the query box was opened it was found to contain but few questions, which were soon disposed of.

Interest and percentage having been assigned to C. H. Holmes, but being absent in attendance on the resolution committee, was excused and Mr. Brough was called to the board by the conductor and he proceeded to open the subject, when the body becoming interested went to work with enthusiasm, result being many different methods were aired.

School exhibitions were introduced and discussed by H. S. and C. M. Young, Miss Phillips, Mrs. Ping, Miss West, Miss Georgia Lewis, Mr. Willis. The subject naturally drifted into closing exhibitions. Miss Helen Thurmond gave it a thrust from which it did not wholly recover. Prof. Hubbard gave us quite a good talk and Superintendent Rawlings came to the front and lead the institute captive.

Recess having been indulged in, the institute resumed work, taking up the subject of Difficult Points in English Grammar by the conductor who diagrammed and analyzed everything presented in such a manner as to render satisfaction to all, visitors and teachers. Adjourned until 1:15.

AFTERNOON.

Opened in the usual manner, when the conductor read the second part of a paper continued from Tuesday, when the roll was called and many teachers received the reward due to tardiness.

Text Books on Civics was introduced by Mr. Brough, seconded by Mr. Grinstead followed by Supt. J. W. Rawlings, who, upon being introduced, opened with such a rich, racy, rattling, sound, deep and instructive speech, as to draw all around him spell-bound throughout the whole, regretting when the closing came. Immediately followed Prof. T. E. Cleland, of Pontiac, Ill., and now located as principal High School, Springfield, Ky., who gave quite an instructive, sensible and plain speech, which came like a drink of ice water to the palate, tasting of the rich champagne. Passing to the next subject, Dr. O'Bannon gave the institute quite an enlightening talk on Physiological Anatomy, which put many a head to thinking, bringing home many a digression from the right. The following resolutions were passed with a whiz by the institute. Closed for recess.

Resolved: That the thanks of the teachers of Lincoln County in convention assembled at Stanford, Ky., Aug. 9, are eminently due and are hereby tendered to Supt. J. W. Rawlings for his timely, exhaustive, instructive and excellent address upon civics, thus making clear to our minds the obscure points in certain portions of the subject and enthralling us in the art of teaching the same.

2. That the heartfelt thanks of the teachers of Lincoln county in institute assembled are due and are hereby tendered to Dr. O'Bannon for his practical and instructive address on Psychology and Physiology.

3. That the thanks of the Lincoln County Teachers Association, assembled in Stanford, are due and are hereby tendered Prof. Cleland for his able, instructive and entertaining lecture on civil government.

Recess closing, proceeded to the spelling contest.

Programme for Friday—Opening roll-call; Recapitulation of weekly work; School discipline; Reports of Committees; Outlook of Public Schools; Farewells and Goodbyes. Adjourned until Friday 9:15.

If Prof. Brough drops off a head every day, pray how long does the supply last. Sugar Grove drew a prize in the way of a Klay. It must be a capital, judging from the size.

The institute is a most decided success. There are several teachers from adjoining counties in attendance and great interest is manifested. Our excellent conductor has succeeded in bringing the young teachers to the front, which is quite an improvement over last year's institute.

Mrs. J. F. Gover, one of Lincoln county's most accomplished ex-teachers, brightened the assembly by her presence yesterday.

least a fortnight, and he had a particular reason for wishing to come across him in the streets of Paris rather than in the streets of London.

Streeter was a young author who had published several books, and who was getting along as well as could be expected, until suddenly he met a check. The check was only a check as far as his own self-esteem was concerned; for it did not in the least retard the sale of his latest book, but rather appeared to increase it. The check was unexpected, for where he had looked for a caress he received a blow. The blow was so well placed, and so vigorous, that at first it stunned him. Then he became unreasonably angry. He resolved to strike back.

The review of his book in the Argus was vigorously severe, and perhaps what maddened him more than anything else was the fact that, in spite of his self-esteem, he realized the truth of the criticism. If his books had been less successful, or if he had been newer as an author, he might possibly have set himself out to profit by the keen thrusts given him by the Argus. He might have remembered that although Tennyson struck back at Christopher North, calling him rusty, crusty and musty, yet the poet eliminated from later editions all blemishes which musty Christopher had pointed out.

Streeter resolved to strike back with something more tangible than a sarcastic verse. He quite admitted, even to himself, that a critic had every right to criticize—that was what he was for; but he claimed that a man who pretended to be an author's friend and who praised his books to his face had no right to go behind his back and pen a criticism so scathing as that which appeared in the Argus, for Streeter knew that Alfred Davison had written the criticism in the Argus, and Davison had pretended to be his friend; and had pretended, as well, that he had a great admiration for Streeter's books.

As Streeter walked down the Boulevard des Italiens he saw, seated in front of a cafe, the man whom he hoped to meet; and, furthermore, he was pleased to see that he had a friend with him. The recognition of author and critic was mutual.

"Hallo, Streeter," cried Davison; "when did you come over?"

"I left London yesterday," answered Streeter.

"Then sit down and have something with us," said Davison, cordially. "Streeter, this is my friend Harmon. He is an exile and a resident in Paris, and, consequently, likes to meet his countrymen."

"In that case," said Streeter, "he is probably well acquainted with the customs of the place?"

"Rather!" returned Davison; "he has become so much of a Frenchman—he has been so contaminated, if I may put it that way—that I believe quite recently he was either principal or second in a duel. By the way, which was it, Harmon?"

"Merely a second," answered the other.

"I don't believe in dueling myself," continued Davison. "It seems to me an idiotic custom, and so futile."

"I don't agree with you," replied Streeter, curtly. "There is no reason why a duel should be futile, and there seem to be many reasons why a duel might be fought. There are many things worse than crimes, which exist in all countries, and for which there is no remedy except calling a man out; misdemeanors, if I may so term them, that the law takes no cognizance of; treachery, for instance—a person pretending to be a man's friend, and then the first chance he gets stabbing him in the back."

Harmon nodded his approval of these sentiments, while Davison said, jauntily:

"Oh, I don't know about that! It seems to me these things, which I suppose undoubtedly exist, should not be made important by taking much notice of them. What will you have to drink, Streeter?"

"Bring me a liqueur of brandy," said Streeter to the waiter who stood ready to take the order.

When the waiter returned with a small glass, into which he poured the brandy, filling it so that not a drop more could be added, and yet without allowing the glass to overflow, Streeter pulled out his purse.

"No, no!" cried Davison; "you are not going to pay for this—you are drinking with me."

"I pay for my own drinks," said Streeter, surlily.

"Not while I invite you to drink with me!" protested the critic. "I pay for this brandy."

"Very well; take it, then!" said Streeter, picking up the little glass and dashing the contents in the face of Davison.

boulevards, he found waiting for him Mr. Harmon and a Frenchman.

"I had no idea you would come so soon," said Streeter, "otherwise I would not have kept you waiting."

"It does not matter," replied Harmon; "we have not waited long. Affairs of this kind require prompt action. An insult lasts but twenty-four hours, and my friend and principal has no desire to put you to the inconvenience of repeating your action of this evening. We are taking it for granted that you have a friend prepared to act for you; for your conduct appeared to be premeditated."

"You are quite right," answered Streeter; "I have two friends to whom I shall be pleased to introduce you. Come this way, if you will be so kind."

The preliminaries were speedily arranged, and the meeting was to take place next morning at daylight, with pistols.

Now that everything was settled, the prospect did not look quite so pleasant to Streeter as it had done when he left London. Davison had asked for no explanation, but that of course could be accounted for, because this critical sneak must be well aware of the reason of the insult. Still, Streeter had rather expected that he would perhaps have pretended ignorance, and on receiving enlightenment might have avoided a meeting by apologizing.

Anyhow, Streeter resolved to make a night of it. He left his friends to arrange for a carriage, and set to all that was necessary, while he donned his war-paint and departed for a gathering to which he had been invited, and where he was to meet many of his countrymen and countrywomen in a fashionable part of Paris.

His hostess appeared to be overjoyed to see him.

"You are so late," she said, "that I was afraid something had occurred that would keep you from coming altogether."

"Nothing could have prevented me from coming," said Streeter, gallantly, "where Mrs. Woodford was hostess?"

"Oh, that is very nice of you, Mr. Streeter!" answered the lady; "but I must not stand here talking with you, for I have promised to introduce you to Miss Neville, who wishes very much to meet you. She is a great admirer of yours and has read all your books."

"There are not very many of them," said Streeter, with a laugh; "and, such as they are, I hope Miss Neville thinks more of them than I do myself."

"Oh, we all know how modest authors are!" replied his hostess, leading him away to be introduced.

Miss Neville was young and pretty; and she was evidently pleased to meet the rising young author.

"I have long wanted to see you," she said, "to have a talk with you about your books."

"You are very kind," said Streeter, "but perhaps we might choose something more profitable to talk about?"

"I am not sure of that. Perhaps you have been accustomed to hear only the nice things people say about you. That is the misfortune of many authors."

"It is a misfortune," said Streeter. "What a writer needs is somebody to tell him the truth."

"Ah!" said Miss Neville, "that is another thing I am not so sure about. Mrs. Woodford has told you, I suppose, that I have read all your books. Did she add that I detested them?"

Even Streeter was not able to conceal the fact that this remark caused him some surprise. He laughed uneasily and said:

"On the contrary, Mrs. Woodford led me to believe that you had liked them."

The girl leaned back in her chair and looked at him with half-closed eyes.

"Of course," she said, "Mrs. Woodford does not know. It is not likely that I would tell her I detested your books while I asked for an introduction to you. She took it for granted that I meant to say pleasant things to you, whereas I had made up my mind to do the exact reverse. No one would be more shocked than Mrs. Woodford—unless, perhaps, it is yourself—if she knew I was going to speak frankly with you."

"I am not shocked," said the young man, seriously; "I recognize that there are many things in my books which are blemishes."

"Of course you don't mean that," said the frank young woman; "because if you did you would not repeat the faults in book after book."

"A man can but do his best," said Streeter, getting annoyed in spite of himself, for no man takes kindly to the candid friend. "A man can but do his best, as Hubert said, whose grandiose drew a long bow at Hastings."

"Yes," returned Miss Neville, "a man can but do his best, although we should remember that the man who said that said it just before he was defeated. What I feel is that you are not doing your best, and that you will not do your best until some objectionable person like myself has a good serious talk with you."

"Begin the serious talk," said Streeter; "I am ready and eager to listen."

"Did you read the review of your latest book which appeared in the Argus?"

"Did I?" said Streeter, somewhat startled—the meeting that was so close and which was coming closer, and which he had forgotten for the moment, flashing over him. "Yes, I did; and I and the pleasure of meeting the person who wrote it this evening."

Miss Neville almost jumped in her chair.

"Oh, I did not intend that you should know that!" she said. "How did you know it? How did you know that I wrote reviews for the Argus?"

"You!" cried Streeter, astonished in his turn. "Do you mean to say that you wrote that review?"

Miss Neville sank back in her chair with a sigh.

"There!" she said, "my impetuosity has, as the Americans say, given me away. After all, you did not know that I was the writer!"

"I thought Davison was the writer. I had it on the very best authority."

"Poor Davison!" said Miss Neville, laughing, "why, he is one of the best and stanchest friends you have; and so am I for that matter—indeed, I think I am even more your friend than Mr. Davison, for I think you can do good work, while Mr. Davison is foolish enough to believe you are doing it."

At this point in the conversation Streeter looked hurriedly at his watch.

"Ah! I see," said Miss Neville; "this conversation is not to your taste. You

"Why don't you shoot, George?" are going to plead an appointment—as if anyone could have an appointment at this hour in the morning!"

"Nevertheless," said Streeter, "I have; and I must bid you good-by. But I assure you that my eyes have been opened, and that I have learned a lesson to-night which I will not soon forget. I hope I may have the pleasure of meeting you again and continuing this conversation. Perhaps some time I may tell you why I have to leave."

Streeter found his friends waiting for him. He knew it was no use trying to see Davison before the meeting. There was a long drive ahead of them, and it was gray daylight when they reached the ground and found the other party waiting.

Each man took his place and the pistol that was handed to him. When the word "fire" was given Streeter dropped his hand to his side. Davison stood with his pistol still pointed, but he did not fire.

"Why don't you shoot, George?" said Davison.

Harmon at this point rebuked his principal, and said he must have no communication with the other except through a second.

"Oh!" said Davison, impatiently, "I don't pretend to know the rules of this idiotic game!"

Streeter stepped forward.

"I merely wished to give you the opportunity of firing at me if you cared to do so," he said; "and now I desire to apologize for my action at the cafe. I may say that I did what I did under a misapprehension. Anything that I can do to make reparation I am willing to do."

"Oh, that's all right!" said Davison; "nothing more need be said. I am perfectly satisfied. Let us get back to the city. I find it somewhat chilly out here."

"And yet," said Harmon, with a sigh, "Englishmen will have the cheek to talk of the fullness of French duels!"

Temporarily.

"I reckon Simon Jenks has lost his reasoning faculties since he had that spell of sickness, don't you?" inquired Mr. Hanson of his gentle-faced wife.

"How old is your Cousin Simon?" asked placid Mrs. Hanson, who had been listening to a long story about the old gentleman's shortcomings and peculiarities since his recent illness.

"Eighty-two come next September," said Mr. Hanson, after a reflective pause.

"Oh, well, he ain't so old as he might be, by a good deal," said Mrs. Hanson, cheerfully. "I shouldn't feel to call it that folks had lost their reasoning faculties at his age, Ezzy; but p'raps in your Cousin Simon's case," she added, seeing a mischievous expression on her husband's face, "p'raps, take it by an' large, you might say that Simon's faculties was mislaid for the time being."—Youth's Companion.

Compliment Intended.

An American is reproached with saying: "How do you do, miss?" to one of the daughters of the prince of Wales—but why not? since Mr. Gladstone always addresses her majesty as "mum." Of another American an odd story is told of his meeting with a deposed Italian princeling.

A United States minister had, with due form, presented this American to his extreme highness, the duke of Bologna.

"Ah, glad to meet you, sir," said the American; "I don't remember that I ever heard of you before, but I've long had the greatest admiration for the sausages you make in your town!"—Youth's Companion.

Nashville, Tenn., March 8, 1893.—The Stockton Medicine Co., Nashville, Tenn., Gentlemen:—I had Sciatic Rheumatism, combined with nervousness and insomnia for six weeks, and having heard of so many persons being cured of nearly every disease by taking Stockton's Anesthetic, I concluded to try it and the result was wonderful. It gave me almost instant relief and in five days I went to my office. I take great pleasure in recommending it. Respectfully yours,

R. E. Morton, 321 North College Street, Stanford.

Dr. M. J. Davis is a prominent physician of Lewis, Cass county, Iowa, and has been actively engaged in the practice of medicine for the past 35 years. On the 26th of May, while in Des Moines en route to Chicago, he was suddenly taken with an attack of diarrhoea. Having said Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy for the past 17 years, and knowing its reliability, he procured a 25-cent bottle of which he immediately took two doses. The result was most gratifying. The diarrhoea ceased, and he was enabled to continue his journey. He had several children with him, two of whom took the diarrhoea very badly. I got some of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy from Rev. Mr. Chapman. It cured both of them. I know of several other cases where it was equally successful. I think it cannot be exaggerated and cheerfully recommend it, and so sent bottles for sale by W. B. McRoberts, Stanford.

The success of Mrs. Annie M. Beam, of McKeesport, Pennsylvania, in the treatment of stomachic ailments, has found what she believes to be the best remedy in existence for flux. Her experience is well worth remembering. He says: "Last Summer I had a severe attack of diarrhoea, and almost every known remedy, none giving relief. Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy was recommended to me. I purchased a bottle and received almost immediate relief. I continued to use the medicine and was entirely cured. I take pleasure in recommending this remedy to any person suffering with such a disease, as in my opinion it is the best medicine in existence." 25-cent and 50-cent bottles for sale by W. B. McRoberts, Drugist, Stanford.

Mr. Thomas Batte, editor of the Graphic, Texas, has found what he believes to be the best remedy in existence for flux. His experience is well worth remembering. Blindness, Paralysis, Rheumatism

Guthrie, Ky., Sept. 9, 1891.

Dear Sir:—More than two years ago my eyes began to fail me. I immediately applied to eminent oculists for relief, for eighteen months they treated without a particle of benefit. Finally, about three months ago I went totally blind, and as a last resort, I procured an Electropole, which, very much to the gratification of myself and family, has restored my sight. It has also greatly benefited my wife and daughter. My wife has been a subject of paralysis for more than two years, and my daughter a sufferer from inflammatory rheumatism for more than twelve years. All this has been effected in the last two months. Too much can not be said in praise of the Electropole. I have the possession of the only one in existence and it could not be reproduced, all the wealth of the universe could not purchase it. I consider it the grandest invention of the age.

Now closing up with the same assets and under By provisions of its charter, depositors are as fully protected as are depositors in National Banks, its shareholders being held individually liable to the extent of the amount of their stock therein at the par value thereof, in addition to the amount invested in such shares. It may act as executor, administrator, trustee, &c., as fully as an individual.

To those who entrusted their business to us while managing the Lincoln National Bank of Stanford, we here tender our many thanks and trust they will continue to transact their business with us, offering as a guarantee for prompt attention to same, our twenty years' experience in banking and as liberal accommodations as are consistent with sound banking.

DIRECTORS: J. J. Williams, Mt. Vernon; J. M. Hall, Stanford; J. S. Owsley, Stanford; S. J. Emery, Stanford; J. E. Lyon, Stanford; J. F. Cash, Stanford; William Gough, Stanford; A. W. Carpenter, Milledgeville, Ky.; S. H. Shanks, President; Dr. J. E. Owsley, Cashier; W. M. Bright, Teller.

FIRST NATIONAL BANK OF STANFORD, KY.

Capital Stock $200,000 Surplus 21,000

Attention of the public is invited to the fact that this is the only National Bank in Stanford Under the provisions of the National Bank Act depositors are secured not only by the capital stock, but by the stockholders' liability for an amount equal to the stock, so that depositors of this institution are secured by a fund of $400,000. Five sworn statements of the condition of the bank are made each year to the United States government and its assets are examined at stated times by government agents, thus securing additional and perfect safety to depositors.

Mr. J. T. WALLER is now pulling the throttle on the passenger runs on this division.

MR. AND MRS. FORESTUS REID and Miss Josephine Reid left for the World's Fair Tuesday.

JOHN SMILEY has gone to Paducah where he has secured a position as salesman in a big shoe house.

MR. W. R. MANIER, of Nashville, has joined his wife and family at Hon. John S. Owsley's. Miss Emma Owsley continues very ill.

SEPT. J. I. McKINNEY, of the L. & N., with headquarters at Montgomery, Ala., has joined his wife here and they are guests of A. A. McKinney.

MISS JESSIE BARBOUR, of Louisville, and Rose Clelland, of Danville, with Mr. J. H. Clelland, of Bourbon, are guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Eastland.

Mrs. OPHELIA THOMPSON, Miss Clara Welch, Misses Mary Clay and Ophelia Thompson and Thomas Thompson are guests of Capt. and Mrs. E. T. Rochester.

MISS NANNIE HUME, of Richmond, and Annie Bright, of Hubble, who have been visiting Misses Susie and Bess Woods, have gone to spend a short time with Miss Annie Engleman.

MR. T. F. SPINK left for Needles, Cal., Wednesday to settle up his affairs there and return to Kentucky. His road has made a large reduction in its force to curtail expenses and he is among the retired.

REV. BEN HELM took his mother to Elizabethtown yesterday to visit relatives, and from there he will go to the Christian Alliance Convention at Chicago. He will not attend the fair till it is settled not to open it on Sunday.

Mrs. GUS HOFMANN and the handsome and charming Mrs. Little, of St. Louis, were down from Crab Orchard Springs, Tuesday. Quite a pleasant crowd is at the springs now, including Mrs. Little's sister, Mrs. Martin, also of St. Louis.

COL. AND MRS. T. P. HILL, Mrs. A. C. Robinson and Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Paxton are enjoying the healthgiving waters of Russell Springs. This is the second visit of the colonel and his wife this season, so greatly are they pleased with the place.

CITY AND VICINITY.

A few nice chests left; will sell at cost. W. H. Wearin & Co.

It is now "the thing" for a lady to tip her hat to the gentlemen she knows.

BRIGHT FERRILL'S case, for attempted bribery in elections, was continued till Saturday.

FOLLOW the crowd Monday and you will find the place to spend your money. W. H. Higgins.

TEACHERS who attend the Institute next week will find pleasant board and lodging by application to Mrs. Rannie Burks.

FOR SALE.—My combined saddle and harness pony at public sale on Monday next. Long time with good note. Arthur Hubbard.

SOUVENIR FREE.—If you are going to the World's Fair, get a ticket from Danks, the Jeweler, entitling you to a souvenir of the exposition. See my reduction ad.

WILL HANSFORD, Green Haasford, Bill Blakely and Joe Hayden, all colored, for running small boys with rocks and sticks, were each given four days on the rock pile by Judge Carson.

PROLIFIC.—Calline Benna has again started the community. Some time ago she produced triplets and the Cincinnati Enquirer gave her $100. Now she has a 16-pound child which is her 17th child.—Richmond Climax.

MISS VIRGINIA BOWMAN delightfully entertained a number of her friends Wednesday evening at Mr. Forestus Reid's elegant home. Dancing and other amusements were enjoyed and an elegant lunch was served. Mrs. Maggie Portman furnished the music for the occasion.

AN excursion to the World's Fair for the benefit of the Christian Orphans' Home will leave Louisville by the O. & M. at 7:40 A. M., Monday, under the direction of Mrs. W. H. Munnell. For $14 a round-trip ticket and room rent in the Tower Hotel for eight days will be given where meals can be had at 15 to 50c. This is about as cheap a chance to go as will be offered.

TAKE your repairs to Danks, the Jeweler.

Try the 30 days system. McKinney Bros.

Your account is ripe, ready and waiting. Please call and settle. W. H. Wearin & Co.

Your account has been due and ready since July 1st. Call and settle by cash or note. A. R. Penny.

You may expect a call from us if you do not call yourself and settle at once. We want what you owe us. Severance & Son.

WALNUT and oak eight day clocks $2.50; nickel alarms 75c; everything in my line in proportion. Danks, the Jeweler. See big ad.

COL. D. G. SLAUGHTER writes that Green Briar now has a large crowd of guests. 33 arrivals last week and 22 up to this time this week.

We would call attention to A. R. Penny's clearance sale of watches, clocks, silverware and everything in the jewelry line. Now is the time to buy at slaughter prices for cash.

THE cupola and roof of the court-house are being placed in mourning. At least the coat of black paint that is being applied gives it that appearance. The county judge hasn't much of an eye for the beautiful, and red is no prettier to him than any other color.

My accounts are due 1st day of July and January and will be glad to run accounts with those who pay promptly when due, but those who cannot and do not pay their bills when due, will please not ask it. I cannot run business on promises. J. K. VanArsdale.

Just after we had gone to press Monday evening, we received this dispatch from John Bright, Jr.: "Gray's precinct voted 290 against whisky and 78 for." With such a majority favoring the suppression of saloons, it is hoped that after voting against them being legalized, the people will see that the blind tiger men are given their deserts.

SEPT. J. I. McKINNEY was called to Montgomery yesterday by a dispatch stating that his presence was necessary to see that the proper steps were taken by the L. & N. to assist in the enforcement of the quarantine against Pensacola by Mobile and Montgomery. A shipload of cholera is anchored in the bay near Pensacola.

THE chairman of the county committee, R. R. Gentry, with J. A. Chappell, David Moore, J. J. McKinney, W. A. Carson and S. A. Middleton, members of it, met Wednesday and after examining the returns, declared Harvey Helm, Esq., the democratic candidate for the legislature. Only two errors were discovered in the vote as given by this paper Tuesday, and they reduced M. F. North's vote to 165 and increased Helm's majority over both to 57.

MR. W. F. McCLARY passed a creditable examination and has received from the board at Frankfort a certificate of his qualifications for the office of superintendent. The forms of the law having been complied with, he is now before the democrats for re-nomination, satisfied that if they will examine his record in office and out, they will endorse him at the primary. He has been faithful and true to duty and it seems to be the general feeling that he should be given another term without opposition from any quarter.

IN advocating the adoption of the cash system, the Harrodsburg Democrat utters a whole volume of wisdom in these sentences, which we commend to those who prefer to do a large business on credit to a smaller for cash: "It is all nonsense to say that the merchant who abandons the credit system will lose his trade; he had better lose his trade than gradually see his capital dwindle and throw away the labor of a lifetime. A small cash business on a small capital turned over many times is better than a large credit business, requiring a large capital and accumulating its inevitable burden of bad debts."

HIRAM MARKHAM, a Casey county tough, got on Capt. Delph's train at Lebanon the other night and tried to run things. The conductor attempted to quiet him, but he grew more boisterous and finally attacked the man with the punch, who promptly mauled him over the head with his lantern. This settled him for awhile and then he began to break out the car windows. The conductor went for him again, when he jumped from the train, fast as it was going. Fearing the man was killed Capt. Delph stopped and searched for him in vain, but the next day he turned up in Lebanon but little the worse from his experience.

THE friends of Mrs. Julia F. Dunn will be glad to know that she has decided after much importunity, to remain in Stanford and teach a class in voice culture and on the piano. She has made music a life study and is thoroughly accomplished in every branch. As a vocalist she has few superiors as all who have heard her sing will testify. She has had great success in teaching in Wichita, Kas., where she has been for several years and where a class now awaits her, but she prefers to live in the home of her childhood and be with her father and sister. Attention is called to her card in another column.

Miss GEORGIA LEWIS will open school at Mt. Xenia Monday, when a full attendance is desired.

THE Kentucky Central will run an excursion from Stanford to the Deering Camp Meeting next Sunday, leaving at 5:25 A. M., and returning that night. Fare $1.50 for the round-trip.

DEATH'S DOINGS.

—Miss Margaret Swope, a sister of Mrs. Eliza Dawson, died at her home, Tuesday, aged 73, of inflammation of the bowels. She was a deaf mute and had been sickly all her life.

—Rev. W. E. Arnold was called to Danville Tuesday to conduct the funeral service of Robert G. Luce, who died of typhoid fever in Nashville, Tenn., on the morning of the 7th. Mr. Luce was the son of Myron Luce, of Hubble, and was well-known in this county. About two years ago he went south to engage in the drug business and had been in Nashville about a year. He was 41 years of age and for many years had been a devoted member of the Methodist church.

—Mr. David Swope, father of the late Col. A. M. Swope, died Wednesday afternoon at the home of his daughter, Miss Kate Swope, aged 87 years. He was a man of iron constitution and nerve and up to the tragic death of his favorite son, was one of the most active for his age in the country. He began to go down then and his mind becoming affected, it became weaker and weaker till it went out almost entirely. At times he was dangerous, but the family would not permit his confinement in a lunatic asylum. His religious views and those of his son, Armp, were identical. He believed in the existence of a God, but not in a hereafter. Mr. Swope was an honest, upright man and raised a large family of children, nearly all of whom are living. The remains were interred in Buffalo cemetery yesterday, making three burials there in two days.

—Mrs. Mary Cobb Hocker died at the home of her father, Mr. Richard Cobb, Tuesday, in the 41st year of her age. Several years ago she had the grip, from which she never fully recovered and which finally degenerated into consumption and for which a stay at Asheville, N. C., and other resorts gave no relief. Mrs. Hocker was no ordinary woman. A graduate of Daughters' College and possessed of a fine mind, she was not only highly accomplished, but an excellent business woman, as the management of her affairs since her husband's death, 10 years ago, demonstrated. She was married in June, 1873, to Mr. Wm. S. Hocker and to them two children were born, Richard Cobb and Wm. S., both of whom are living to feel the severe loss of a mother's tender love and care. Since girlhood Mrs. Hocker has been an earnest, God-loving and God-serving member of the Christian church, foremost in every good word and work, and when the summons came she was ready and willing to go. The death scene was a real triumph over the grim monster. She called her children, parents, sisters and brother to her bedside and told them of the bliss that awaited her and urged them to strive to meet her where the wicked cease from troubling and the weary are eternally at rest. In a sweet vision she could see the four sisters who had gone before, seated around the great white throne and beckoning her to join them. Thus lived and died a woman whose bright example will tell in the ages to come. Mrs. Hocker makes the fifth daughter Mr. and Mrs. Richard Cobb have had to surrender to death, but they have the consoling confidence that God has taken them to Himself, where they can join them in a short time even if their lives are unusually prolonged. May God, the only giver of true consolation, sustain them and all affected by this death. A song and prayer at the house, followed by a short and impressive service by Eld. W. L. Williams, assisted by Elder W. E. Ellis, at the grave in Buffalo Cemetery, and the remains were laid away by the side of those of the husband to await the resurrection morn, in the presence of a large concourse of friends, who literally covered the mound with beautiful floral offerings.

CHURCH AFFAIRS.

—The corner stone of the Central Christian church, which is to be a handsome one, was laid at Lexington Monday.

—The new Union church-house a Moreland will be dedicated on Sunday next, Aug. 13. Ministers of the different denominations will conduct the exercises. There will be two sermons—11 o'clock A. M. and 2 P. M., with a basket dinner intervening. All are invited to come with well-filled baskets. W. L. Williams.

—Rev. C. S. Lucas continues to preach two powerful sermons daily and to urge upon sinners the importance of accepting the Savior, but so far he is disappointed in the result. There have been four additions by baptism and three by letter, whereas he says that at any other place there would have been 50 in a congregation which paid so close and earnest attention as the one he is preaching to. Important business will cause him to leave after the Sunday night's service, when the meeting will positively close. The subject of this morning's sermon will be "Is the Faith Core Fact or Fancy?" "Justification by Faith," at night, Saturday morning "Who May Partake of the Lord's Supper?" night "Wisdom's Warnings to Worldlings." Sunday morning "Are we True to Our Plea?" night "The Christian Golden Age." Mr. Lucas has made a lasting impression on the community. He is a deep thinker, a forcible reasoner and presents what he thinks is the truth with earnestness and clearness.

DANVILLE.

—The drought continues in this section and crops are suffering terribly. There is great danger from fires.

—Mrs. B. G. Boyle won the handsome chair offered by Welsh & Wiseman for the nearest guess to the attendance at the Danville Fair. It was 7,413 and she guessed 7,411.

—Miss Allie Handman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Handman, formerly of this city, died at the home of her parents, in Lexington, Monday afternoon, of consumption.

—Judge Alex. Anderson, City Recorder, is very sick with flux. Mr. Ed Sibbald has accepted a position as salesman with A. E. Gibbons and will pay special attention to the Lincoln trade.

—Superintendent Rawlings announces that the Boyle County Teachers' Institute (white) will convene in Danville at the common school building, Monday, Aug. 28, and continue in session for five days.

—Nelson Wingate, one of the oldest citizens of Boyle county, died at the Yankey Hotel, in Perryville, Monday morning at 6 o'clock, of the infirmities incidental to old age. Mr. Wingate had been in bad health for a long time. He was in the 78th year of his age.

—There is nothing doing in wheat on the local market. Forty-seven cents is about the price offered for No. 2. John Tewmeyer & Son sold to Martin, Thompson & Co., of New Orleans, 42 extra good fat snags mules at $150 to be delivered Sept. 1. B. G. Fox & Co. sold to Jack Spratt, of Drendron, Va., a four-year-old New York saddle for $250; to McFerran & McFerran, of Queensboro, a 4-year-old harness mare for $285 and to L. H. Hudson a harness mare for $300.—Advocate.

—Monte Christo won the big saddle purse at Nicholasville, Tuesday, Gay Bros' Highland Denmark second, our Mr. E. P. Woods' Eagle Bird third, and Greenhaw's Monte Christo, Jr. fourth. There were 16 entries.

—Moses Kahn, the stock buyer, is said to have gone where the woodbine twined, leaving 5,000 sheep, 1,000 cattle and 1,000 hogs unpaid for to Bourbon farmers alone. He bought in the spring and since then cattle have gone down $10 a head, sheep $1.50 and hogs 25c a pound, so it is little wonder that he skipped.

PUBLIC SALE.

The undersigned, as agent and attorney in fact of the heirs of John S. Hays, dec'd., will on Wednesday, Aug. 30, '93,

On the premises at public outcry sell to the highest and best bidder the Farm consisting of

About 240 Acres of Land,

Of which the late John S. Hays died possessed. Said Farm is situated near Stanford, Ky., and lies near and on the Stanford and Hustonsville turnpike road and is bounded by the farms of Forestus Reid, Wm. Beck, Mrs. Allie Farris, Wm. Hays and others. This is a desirable place, in the vicinity of Stanford, Ky. It lies well for cultivation and the soil yields a rich return to good husbandry. The Farm has upon it a weatherboarded log house of 6 or 8 rooms, under which there is a dry cellar, at all times; a large and commodious barn and other necessary outbuildings. There is in the yard a fine well of cool, pure and living water and also near the house a good spring, and for stock purposes two good ponds on the farm. In short, it is one of the pleasantest places in the county to live in and of its neighborhood environments.

Terms of Sale.—One-third cash in hand and the remainder of the purchase money in one and two years in equal installments, with 6 per cent. interest from day of sale until paid, and ten retained on the farm to secure the deferred payments, payable to the undersigned.

The Farm will be surveyed to the purchaser and full possession will be given on the first day of January, 1894, but for seeding, about 50 acres now in corn, the purchaser will have the right to put said land in small grain and the right of ingress and egress for that purpose to the place.
